Cold Therapy – CCT Therapy

CCT Cold Compression Therapy Wraps

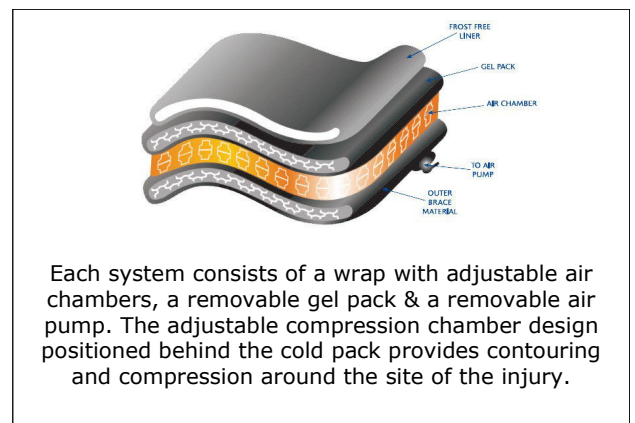

A unique & patented circumferential compression therapy system incorporates a gel cold pack covered with frost free lining to allow application directly to the skin.

With the Cold Therapy combined with the adjustable inflation you can fulfil 2 of the 4 ideal treatments for soft tissue injury. RICE - R - Rest, I - Ice, C - Compression, E - Elevation. The Rest and elevation can easily be controlled by the injured player/patient.

Intermittent compression can also be achieved by giving the player/patient guidelines on how often to inflate and deflate the device

- Precise fit to provide deep tissue treatment
- Circumferential Compression and Cold Therapy together
- Mobility while being treated
- Lightweight and easy to use

Cold therapy systems use advanced technology to provide deep, consistent cooling to injured areas. Combined with active compression, cold therapy can help your body heal more quickly by preventing tissue damage, encouraging healthy circulation, and stimulating tissue repair.

The gel pad (blue) is removed from the wrap and placed in the freezer. When frozen it is then ready for use. Its placed back in the wrap and held in place via Velcro attachments.

The Gel pack has a frost free lining, however because of the wide variation in freezer types and temperatures we recommend that you place an additional layer e.g. kitchen paper, light cloth, compression bandage etc. between the wrap and the skin. Its especially important for the initial few minutes after removing the gel pack from the freezer

2 hours freezing time is sufficient and the most recommended time. Application times are the same as for a standard cold pack. Replacement gel wraps are also available. We recommend purchasing an additional wrap so one can be in the freezer at all times and ready for use and the 2 wraps can be alternated during treatment.

Artic Flow / Aircast Cryo Cuff Cold Therapy

An affordable, effective cold therapy system that is gravity fed. In addition to providing effective cold to the area, the specially designed elastic wraps also apply compression.

The combination of ice and compression will dramatically reduce pain and swelling and help facilitate rehabilitation.

Once the wrap is filled the patient can disconnect from the unit and will be free to move around. The wrap will stay cold for up to 30 minutes, then the patient just re-connects the wrap and re-filters cold water back in for up to 3 hours of continuous treatment.

COLD COMPRESSION THERAPY

Cold compression therapy combines the benefits of cold therapy and compression therapy to provide optimal results for pain and swelling relief. Studies have shown that people who use cold therapy and compression therapy together as opposed to just one of those therapies alone recover from their injuries significantly faster. The many benefits of cold compression therapy include reducing pain, swelling, and edema, while promoting faster healing and muscle recovery, and stimulating blood flow. PowerPlay combines the benefits of a cold therapy machine (or cold therapy unit) and a compression machine to deliver intermittent compression therapy – meaning the compression pump inflates the wrap to the desired pressure, holds for 10 seconds, releases, then inflates again. Intermittent compression has been proven to be more effective than static compression because it moves the blood more effectively, helping push the swelling out of the system. PowerPlay also offers cold therapy through frozen gel packs or ice bags, which have been proven to reduce pain.

Cold and compression therapy can be applied to a variety of situations including post-surgical rehabilitation (such as MCL and ACL surgery recovery), injuries such as sprains, fractures, and tears, as well as pain and swelling. Most athletes are familiar with the RICE method for recovering from injuries, which stands for Rest, Ice, Compression, and Elevation. While we leave rest and elevation up to you, PowerPlay uses advanced technology to make your ice and compression more effective.

The Game Ready System continuously circulates cold water from the control unit's ice reservoir, via a connector hose, through an inner chamber of the anatomical wrap (this chamber is located closest to the body) before returning to the ice reservoir. As a complete loop, the cold water is refreshed through the ice before returning through the anatomical wrap, thus delivering continuous cold therapy, allowing heat to be removed from the treatment site. Simultaneously, the control unit pumps air into the separate, outer chamber of the anatomical wrap, intermittently inflating and deflating according to the pressure setting that is selected. The compression not only assists in preventing / limiting swelling, but also conforms the Anatomical Wrap to the contours of the body. This increases the surface contact and aids the delivery of the circumferential cold therapy. The Game Ready System combines Intermittent Compression with Circumferential Cold Therapy in one easy-to-use, adjustable application.

Benefits of Compression & Adjustable Cold Therapy

1. Decreases pain, muscle spasms, swelling
2. Reduces metabolic activity and cellular demand for oxygen to reduce tissue damage
3. Mimics muscle contractions, pumping oedema out of the injured area
4. Stimulates tissue healing
5. Increases blood flow and delivery of oxygen to the injury site
6. Optimizes lymphatic drainage

NormaTec is the leader in rapid recovery—The systems give a competitive edge to the world's elite athletes, coaches, and trainers. The goal is to establish recovery as an integral part of every athlete's training. The NormaTec PULSE Recovery Systems are dynamic compression devices designed for recovery and rehab. All of the systems use NormaTec's patented PULSE technology to help athletes recover faster between trainings and after performance. The systems include a control unit and attachments which go on the legs, arms, or hips.

They use compressed air to massage your limbs, mobilize fluid, and speed recovery with our patented NormaTec Pulse Massage Pattern. When you use the systems, you will first experience a pre-inflate cycle, during which the connected attachments are moulded to your exact body shape. The session will then begin by compressing your feet, hands, or upper quad (depending on which attachment you are using). Similar to the kneading and stroking done during a massage, each segment of the attachment will first compress in a pulsing manner and then release. This will repeat for each segment of the attachment as the compression pattern works its way up your limb.

The surface of the RumbleRoller contains specially designed bumps that are firm, but flexible, much like the thumbs of a massage therapist, As you roll over the top of the RumbleRoller, the bumps continuously knead the contours of your body, gently stretching soft tissue (muscle and fascia) in multiple directions, This action erodes trigger points, helps restore flexibility, and brings quick relief to common types of muscular pain, By design, the RumbleRoller's bumps are firmer than muscle tissue, but much softer than bone, so they deflect out of the way if they contact your spine or other bony Protrusions.

Dynamic Taping™ is a novel approach developed by an Australian Musculoskeletal Physio, that uses a specialty designed, highly elastic tape to contribute energy into the kinetic chain.

What are the advantages of Dynamic Tape?

Dynamic Tape allows the wearer to move through full range of motion without limitation but with strong biomechanical assistance (as opposed to a primary neurophysiological approach). Dynamic Tape can strongly assist or resist movement, facilitate or inhibit and offload tissue through full range of motion. This is only possible due to the highly elastic nature (no endpoint like Kinesio tapes) and four way stretch necessary when taping multi joint muscles or movements and performing complex, three-dimensional skills. Dynamic Taping can quickly be integrated into the clinician's treatment approach and provides an additional treatment tool which combines well with other taping methods.

Dynamic Tape is extremely soft to touch & is highly conformable. A strong adhesive which has been independently tested and rated as non-sensitizing, non-irritating and non-toxic. The fabric is highly breathable, allowing water in to wash the skin but dries quickly. The result is a well tolerated, long lasting tape that is quite possibly the most comfortable athletic tape on the market.

How does the tape work?

In many cases the tape is applied in such a way that it mimics the action of the injured muscle or tendon. The tape is placed on the body with the muscle or joint in the shortened position and with stretch on the tape. As the muscle or joint lengthens, the tape is stretched further and thereby absorbs load just as a bungee cord decelerates the jumper, absorbing load. This reduces the eccentric work of the muscles.

Once full range is reached, the absorbed energy is stored in the form of elastic potential energy. As the muscle or joint begins to shorten, the energy is released back into the biomechanical chain as kinetic energy, thereby assisting the concentric action of the muscle. This results in decreased workload and improved biomechanical efficiency of the musculo-tendinous unit, decreased metabolic demand and improved tolerance to fatigue.

Reducing load may result in less pain, better healing (can load sooner resulting in functional stress and better scar formation), improved endurance and performance. Dramatic improvements in circulation and lymphatics have also been observed. There are a number of mechanical and physiological mechanisms that are likely to contribute. These are outlined in our free eLearning programs located on the resources page.

Please visit our website www.sportsphysio.ie where you will find links to video clips on taping guidelines & E-learning Opportunities
